

Oct. 1933. 4 business establishments. Pat Malone, Moody Real Estate Co., Kate ^{Pond} in the sandwich and coffee business, and post office at Moffet Hot Springs operated by Marie Shack.

Pat Malone runs combination grocer, meat, bus parlor, gambling, restaurant on old Tol property. The first real character, Bonneville Lou, famous for hard boiled and expert use of knives used on her husband. Bonneville Lou later became in in Roosevelt bar because quite artist at getting men drunk and stealing pocket books in 1935. Lived with 3 or 4 different men caused fights and drunken parties. Pat Malone finally organized Chamber of Commerce of this district. He was first to propose to the Chamber to circulate a contract signed by business men of town where by they was to pay 2.00 per man for police protection to the Deputy Sheriff C. E. McCurdy. Sheriff Borden and Sweeney assisted as the town became larger to enforce law.

Pat Malone finally turned out to be quite a gangster. He was first party to introduce the to gambling syndicate into and fixer the construction of the first gambling den in North Bonneville. The gambling license was not allowed to causing the syndicate to lose $1800.00 which had been put in the building. Pat Malone's career ended in the month of July in what was known as Pats Dam Cafe. X

The next notorious place was known as The Silver Moon by Jack Kovas ^{Jacobus} located on Roosevelt Avenue near the Depot. He eventually broke family ties and after many drunken b left with another woman. and card room.

The next character of ability appeared on the scene, Blacky, who runs a fire wagon and was a professional gambler . Run out of town by vigilante committee in 1935. Herby, Adams was appointed in 1934 by sheriff as deputy under McCurdy. McCurdy refused to work with him and he was discharged in 1935. Later he was arrested by McCurdy while trying to frame McCurdy in a woman known as Mrs. Guss Johnson. Adams provoked fight and was put in jail. preferred charges.

Oct. 1933. 4 business establishments. Pat Malone. Moody Real Co. Co., Kate Pored in the sandwich and coffee business. and Post Office at Moffet Hot Springs, operated by Marie Lusk.

Pat Malone, new combination, grocer, meat, Bus parlor, gambling, restaurant on old Tal property. The first real change in Bonmills Lou. James - far hard bail. and a part of knives used on her husband. Bonmills Lou. later he came from in rest in Roosevelt Cas. became quite artist at getting men drunk, and stealing pocket books in 1935. lived with 8 as 4 different men. caused fights and drunken parties. Pat Malone finally organized Chamber of Commerce of this dist. and was voted President of Chamber. he was first to propose to the Chamber. to make a contract signed by business men of town where they was to pay 200 per more for police protection to the

#2

by deputy sheriff O. O. McCurdy. Sheriff Borden and Shenny assisted as the town became laggard to enforce law.
Pat Molone, finally turned out to be quite a gangster. He was first party to introduce the job gambling syndicate into Bonnycastle. He supervised the construction of the first gambling den in Bonnycastle. The gambling house was not allowed to operate causing the syndicate to lose 1800.00 which had been put in the building. Pat Molone's career ended, in the month of July in which was known as Pat's Sham Cope. The next notorious place was known as the Selma Moor, by Jack Kovas, located on Krovel Lane near the Sheriff's eventually broke family ties and after many drunken bouts left with another woman, Ben Gout and Carl Brown.

#3,

The next character of ability appeared on the scene. Bloody, who runs a fire wagon, and was a professional gamester, coffin knocker, etc.
I run out of town by vigilant com. in 1935. Henry Adams was appointed in 1934, the sheriff as deputy under McCurdy. He refused to work with him and he was discharged in 1935. Later he was arrested by McCurdy while trying to fraud McCurdy in a woman, known as Mrs. Ess Johnson. Adams flew the night and was put in jail, preferred charges.